TITLE 15A - DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENT AND NATURAL RESOURCES

Notice is hereby given in accordance with G.S. 150B-21.2 that the North Carolina Marine Fisheries Commission intends to amend the rule cited as 15A NCAC 3Q .0107. Notice of Rule-making Proceedings was published in the Register on April 15, 1997.

Proposed Effective Date: August 1, 2000

A Public Hearing will be conducted at 7:00 p.m. on January 21, 1999 at the Archdale Building, Ground Floor Hearing Room, Raleigh, NC.

Reason for Proposed Action: The Marine Fisheries Commission presently has a creel limit for shad in coastal waters and the Wildlife Resources Commission has a creel limit for shad in inland waters. The proposed rule would establish a joint rule which would place the same limit on shad in joint waters.

Comment Procedures: Comments and statements, both written and oral, may be presented at the hearing. Written comments are encouraged and may be submitted to the Marine Fisheries Commission, c/o Juanita Gaskill, PO Box 769, Morehead City, NC 28557. Fiscal Note: This Rule does not affect the expenditures or revenues of state or local government funds. This Rule does not have a substantial economic impact of at least five million dollars ($5,000,000) in a 12-month period.

 - (e) In the joint waters of the Roanoke River and its tributaries including Cashie. Middle and Eastmost Rivers, striped bass and hybrid striped bass fishing season, size limits and creel limits shall be the same as those established by duly adopted rules of the Wildlife Resources Commission for adjacent inland fishing waters.
- (2) Lake Mattamuskeet:
 - (a) It is unlawful to set or attempt to set any gill net in Lake Mattamuskeet canals designated as ioint waters.
 - (b) It is unlawful to use or attempt to use any trawl net or seines in Lake Mattamuskeet canals designated as joint waters.

CHAPTER 7 - COASTAL MANAGEMENT

SUBCHAPTER 7H - STATE GUIDELINES FOR AREAS OF ENVIRONMENTAL CONCERN

SECTION .0300 - OCEAN HAZARD AREAS

.0309 USE STANDARDS FOR OCEAN HAZARD AREAS: EXCEPTIONS

(a) The following types of development may be permitted seaward of the oceanfront setback requirements of Rule .0306(a) of the Subchapter if all other provisions of this Subchapter and other state and local regulations are met:

- (1) campgrounds that do not involve substantial permanent structures;
- parking areas with clay, packed sand or similar surfaces;
- (3) outdoor tennis courts;
- (4) elevated decks not exceeding a footprint of 500 square feet;
- (5) beach accessways consistent with Rule .0308(c) of this Subchapter:
- (6) unenclosed, uninhabitable gazebos with a footprint of 200 square feet or less;
- (7) uninhabitable, single-story storage sheds with a footprint of 200 square feet or less;
- (8) temporary amusement stands; and
- (9) swimming pools.

In all cases, this development shall only be permitted if it is landward of the vegetation line; involves no significant alteration or removal of primary or frontal dunes or the dune vegetation; has overwalks to protect any existing dunes; is not essential to the continued existence or use of an associated principal development; is not required to satisfy minimum requirements of local zoning, subdivision or health regulations; and meets all other non-setback requirements of this Subchapter.

- (b) Where strict application of the oceanfront setback requirements of Rule .0306(a) of this Subchapter would preclude placement of permanent substantial structures on lots existing as of June 1, 1979, single family residential structures may be permitted seaward of the applicable setback line in ocean erodible areas, but not inlet hazard areas, if each of the following conditions are met:
 - (1) The development is set back from the ocean the maximum feasible distance possible on the existing lot and the development is designed to minimize encroachment into the setback area;
 - (2) The development is at least 60 feet landward of the vegetation line:
 - (3) The development is not located on or in front of a frontal dune, but is entirely behind the landward toe of the frontal dune;
 - (4) The development incorporates each of the following design standards, which are in addition to those required by Rule .0308(d) of this Subchapter.
 - (A) All pilings have a tip penetration that extends to at least four feet below mean sea level;
 - (B) The footprint of the structure be no more than 1,000 square feet or 10 percent of the lot size, whichever is greater.
 - (5) All other provisions of this Subchapter and other state and local regulations are met. If the development is to be serviced by an on-site waste disposal system, a copy of a valid permit for such a system must be submitted as part of the CAMA permit application.
- (c) Reconfiguration of lots and projects that have a grandfather status under Paragraph (b) of this Rule shall be allowed provided that the following conditions are met:
 - (1) Development is setback from the first line of stable natural vegetation a distance no less than that required

- by the applicable exception;
- (2) Reconfiguration will not result in an increase in the number of buildable lots within the Ocean Hazard AEC or have other adverse environmental consequences; and
- (3) Development on lots qualifying for the exception in Paragraph (b) of this Rule must meet the requirements of Paragraphs (1) through (5) of that Paragraph.

For the purposes of this Rule, an existing lot is a lot or tract of land which, as of June 1, 1979, is specifically described in a recorded plat and which cannot be enlarged by combining the lot or tract of land with a contiguous lot(s) or tract(s) of land under the same ownership. The footprint is defined as the greatest exterior dimensions of the structure, including covered stairways, when extended to ground level.

- (d) The following types of water dependent development shall be permitted seaward of the oceanfront setback requirements of Rule .0306(a) of this Section if all other provisions of this Subchapter and other state and local regulations are met:
 - (1) piers providing public access (excluding any pier house, office, or other enclosed areas); and
 - (2) maintenance and replacement of existing state-owned bridges and causeways and accessways to such bridges.
- (e) Where application of the oceanfront setback requirements of Rule .0306(a) of this Section would preclude replacement of a pier house associated with an existing ocean pier, replacement of the pier house shall be permitted if each of the following conditions are met:
 - (1) The associated ocean pier provides public access for fishing or other recreational purposes whether on a commercial, public, or nonprofit basis;
 - (2) The pier house is set back from the ocean the maximum feasible distance while maintaining existing parking and sewage treatment facilities and is designed to reduce encroachment into the setback area:
 - (3) The pier house shall not be enlarged beyond its original dimensions as of January 1, 1996;
 - (4) The pier house shall be rebuilt to comply with all other provisions of this Subchapter; and
 - (5) If the associated pier has been destroyed or rendered unusable, replacement of the pier house shall be permitted only if the pier is also being replaced and returned to its original function.
- (f) In addition to the development authorized under Rule.0309(d) of this Section, small scale, non-essential development that does not induce further growth in the Ocean Hazard Area, such as the construction of single family piers and small scale erosion control measures that do not interfere with natural ocean front processes, may be permitted on those non oceanfront portions of shoreline within a designated Ocean Hazard Area that exhibit features characteristic of Estuarine Shoreline. Such features include the presence of wetland vegetation, lower wave energy and lower erosion rates than in the adjoining Ocean Erodible Area. Such development shall be permitted under the standards set out in Rule .0208 of this Subchapter. For the purpose of this Rule, small scale is defined as those projects which are eligible for authorization under 15A NCAC 7H.1100, .1200 and 7K .0203.

The line of division of riparian access shall be established by drawing a line along the channel or deep water in front of the property, then drawing a line perpendicular to the line of the channel so that it intersects with the shore at the point the upland property line meets the water's edge. The set back may be waived by written agreement of the adjacent riparian owner(s) or when the two adjoining riparian owners are co-applicants. Should the adjacent property be sold before construction of the breakwater begins, the applicant shall obtain a written agreement with the new owner waiving the minimum setback and submit it to the Division of Coastal Management prior to initiating any construction of the breakwater.

Examples of these activities include responding to telephone inquiries, scheduling appointments, filing insurance claims, typing psychological reports, and completing data entry of test results after a patient or client has responded to such items as questionnaires, forms, etc. These activities shall be appropriate for ancillary services personnel to provide under the supervision of a psychologist. A psychologist who employs or supervises unlicensed individuals to provide the services described in this Paragraph shall otherwise be exempt from the requirements of Rule .2803(a) of this Section.
- (b) Tasks requiring technical skills and training but minimal judgment during execution shall be deemed as appropriate activities in which unlicensed individuals would be engaged. Examples of these activities include obtaining demographic histories; implementing biofeedback techniques; administering and scoring specific parts of psychological tests, including neuropsychological tests, which are scored on a pass/fail, multiple choice, or true/false basis, or for which scores are based on speed or quantity of performance; and implementing specific behavioral interventions that are part of a detailed treatment plan. A psychologist may delegate such technical tasks to an unlicensed individual upon determining that the tasks can be performed adequately, given the client's or patient's characteristics and circumstances, in a manner consistent with the unlicensed individual's training and skills.

.2805 SERVICES NOT APPROPRIATE FOR UNLICENSED INDIVIDUALS

(a) Individuals providing ancillary services shall not engage in tasks involving judgment during the execution of those services when training in the foundation of psychology for the level of judgment is characteristically based on academic preparation at the masters, specialist, or doctoral level in psychology. Examples of these activities include administration of projective techniques; administration of individually administered intelligence tests; administration of other psychological tests in which the patient's or client's performance may alter the length of the protocol, require adjustment of the number of items administered, or require that a decision be made to probe a response of the patient or client; and all forms of diagnostic interviewing, counseling, and psychotherapy. Psychological services of the type noted in this Paragraph shall be provided only by psychologists licensed by the Board as either licensed psychologists (provisional or permanent) or licensed psychological associates or by qualified applicants and shall not be performed by unlicensed individuals. psychological test results shall be interpreted to recipients of services or their duly designated representative(s) by licensed psychologists (provisional or permanent), licensed psychological associates, or qualified applicants. Interpretation of psychological test results by unlicensed individuals, other than qualified applicants, shall be prohibited under all circumstances.

(b) Unlicensed individuals providing ancillary services who make record entries regarding services they provide must sign such entries and indicate their positions as providers of ancillary services. The psychologist shall ensure that reports, case notes, financial statements, and other records of service clearly identify whether the psychologist or the unlicensed individual was the direct provider of a specific service. When a psychological report contains information collected by a provider of ancillary services, the report shall either identify the information as that obtained from a person providing ancillary services or be countersigned by the person providing ancillary services.

Authority G.S. 90-270.9; 90-270.21.

.2806 SUPERVISION

Any qualified psychologist who employs or supervises individuals to provide ancillary services shall be accessible at all times, either on-site or through electronic communication, and shall be available to render assistance when needed to the unlicensed individual and patient or client, or shall have arranged for another qualified psychologist to be readily accessible in the absence of the supervising psychologist. The psychologist shall meet with all unlicensed individuals in an employer-employee or supervisor-supervisee relationship to the extent necessary to provide appropriate supervision for the activities in which the unlicensed individual is engaged.

Authority G.S. 90-270.9; 90-270.21.

.2807 QUALIFICATIONS AND TRAINING

(a) Prior to the provision of ancillary services specified in Rule .2804 of this Section by an unlicensed individual, the psychologist supervising or employing the individual shall provide training in and establish that the individual has sufficient knowledge and understanding of confidentiality, exceptions to confidentiality including mandated reporting of suspected abuse or neglect, and professional ethics. Training in professional ethics shall include the Code of Conduct contained in the North Carolina Psychology Practice Act at G.S. 90-270.15(a).

(b) Any psychologist supervising or employing an unlicensed individual shall provide instruction in or establish that the individual shall have received training sufficient to perform the activities delegated to the unlicensed individual.

(c) Unless provided prior approval by the Board, a psychologist may not employ or supervise individuals to provide ancillary services who have previously been licensed or certified to practice psychology who have relinquished their licenses or certification or who have had their licenses or certification restricted, suspended, or revoked by the Board in North Carolina or any other jurisdiction.

Authority G.S. 90-270.9; 90-270.21.

TITLE 15A - DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENT AND NATURAL RESOURCES

Rule-making Agency: Commission for Health Services

Rule Citation: 15A NCAC 19A .0502

Effective Date: December 1, 1998

Findings Reviewed and Approved by: Beecher R. Gray

Authority for the rule-making: G.S. 130A-152

Reason for Proposed Action: The purpose of this action: To change the reporting requirements as stated in 15A NCAC 19A .0502. This will ensure that private providers of immunization services to children have a fair and reasonable mechanism in which to accurately report doses administered information to the Immunization Section for the purpose of vaccine accountability. Immunization projects have the primary responsibility to develop and maintain vaccine accountability systems to ensure that vaccine loss and wastage is minimized. The existing rules were developed in 1993 when the Universal Childhood Vaccine Distribution Program (UCVDP) began providing state-supplied vaccine to less than 400 providers across the state. One of the many goals of the UCVDP was to encourage more pediatricians and family physicians to immunize children in their medical care home. At that time 65-70% of childhood immunizations were being administered in local county health departments. By 1998 the private sector was administering 70 percent of the childhood vaccines. Since that time, four new vaccines/vaccine combinations have been added to the Recommended Childhood Immunization Schedule, making the current reporting mechanism cumbersome for the providers of immunization services. In addition, with the number of childhood immunization providers enrolled in the UCVDP having nearly tripled over the past four years, reporting of doses administered information on the 5th of each month by providers does not allow adequate reporting time. The existing rule states that a provider who fails to report by the fifth of each month twice in one year is no longer eligible to receive state-supplied vaccine. A temporary rule needs to be adopted in order to impose upon immunization program providers reasonable reporting requirements with respect to immunization activities and appropriate sanctions for failure to comply. Greater compliance and accountability by the Immunization Program providers and the Immunization Section will be achieved.

Comment Procedures: Comments, statements, data and other information may be submitted in writing within 60 days after the date of publication of this issue in the North Carolina Register. Copies of the proposed rules and information packages may be obtained by contacting the Immunization Program at (919) 715-6764. Written comments may be submitted to Barbara Laymon, Immunization Section, Division of Public Health, PO Box 29597, Raleigh, NC 27626.

All suspensions of eligibility shall be in accordance with G.S. 130A-23. - 10 NCAC 3U .0305, and .2805: DHHS/Child Care Commission The Commission objected to .0305 and .2805 due to ambiguity. It is not clear how the compliance history ratings are determined.
- 10 NCAC 3U .1601: DHHS/Child Care Commission The Commission objected to .1601 due to ambiguity. As written, .1601 appears to apply to all centers, but the section title implies that it only applies to programs seeking to be recognized as meeting enhanced standards. It is not clear to whom the .1600 rules apply.
- 10 NCAC 3U .2806: DHHS/Child Care Commission The Commission objected to .2806 due to ambiguity. In (b)(2), (c)(2), and (d)(2), it is not clear what constitutes a "nationally recognized" accrediting organization.

10 NCAC 3U .2810: DHHS/Child Care Commission - The Commission objected to .2810 due to ambiguity. In (c), it is not clear what standards the division will use in approving individuals to perform rating scale assessments.

10 NCAC 20C .0206: DHHS/Division of Vocational Rehabilitation Services - The Commission objected to this rule due to lack of statutory authority and ambiguity. In (I) there is no authority for allowing the waiver provision without specific guidelines. "[G]ood cause" is not specific. It is also unclear whether the unit manager may refuse to approve the waiver if "good cause" (once it is specified) is shown. This may simply be a requirement that the waiver be in writing and that the unit manager be the decision maker.

10 NCAC 41E, G, R, S and T: DHHS/Social Services Commission – These rules were withdrawn by the agency.

Commissioner White recused herself from the Department of Insurance rules.

11 NCAC 8 .0912 – INSURANCE/Manufactured Housing Board: The Commission objected to this rule due to lack of statutory authority. In (f)(4), there is no authority for including questions about federal laws and rules on the examination. There is also no authority for the exemption in (l). G.S. 143-143.11(h) requires a person to pass an examination in order to obtain a license.

12 NCAC 7D .1201, and .1202: JUSTICE/NC Private Protective Services Board - The Commission objected to the .1200 rules due to lack of statutory authority. There is no authority for setting requirements for instructors of instructors. G.S. 74C-13(h) and (l) require trainers to be certified but there is no authority for those training them to be.

12 NCAC 7D .1301, .1302, .1303, .1304, .1305, .1306, and .1307: JUSTICE/NC Private Protective Services Board - The Commission objected to each of the .1300 rules due to lack of statutory authority and also to .1301 and .1302 due to lack of necessity and to .1304 and .1305 due to ambiguity. There is no authority cited for requiring continuing education for licensees. Conversely G.S. 74C-9(f) allows renewal upon payment of the proper fee and evidence of insurance. In addition, .1301 is not necessary because it has no requirements. In .1302, the term "accredited sponsor" is not used in the rules and thus does not need defining. In .1304(c) and .1305, it is not clear what standards the Board will use in determining if a course will be sanctioned.

15A NCAC 1N .0403: DENR – The Commission objected to this rule due to ambiguity. In (1), it is not clear what standards the division will use in requiring business plan submittal.

15A NCAC 1N .0604: DENR – The Commission objected to this rule due to ambiguity. The rule states that points may be awarded in both Items (1) and (2), but Item (2) states that points may be awarded if not awarded in (1). This is contradictory and thus ambiguous.

15A NCAC 1N .0701: DENR – The commission objected to this rule due to ambiguity. In (c)(4), it is not clear what standards the division will use in setting capacity development requirements.

15A NCAC 1N .0703: DENR – The Commission objected to this rule due to ambiguity. In (1), it is not clear what standards the receiving agency (Division of Environmental Health) will use in approving loan commitment decreases.

15A NCAC 10: DENR – These rules were withdrawn by the agency.

15A NCAC 2D .1208: DENR/Environmental Management Commission - The Commission objected to this rule due to ambiguity. ln(a)(3)(A)(ii), it is not clear what standards the Administrator will use in waiving requirements.

15A NCAC 3P .0202: DENR/Marine Fisheries Commission - The Commission objected to this rule due to ambiguity. It is unclear what constitutes "undisputed facts" in the context of a request for a declaratory ruling in (b), (b)(1), (d), (f)(1), and (g)(3).

15A NCAC 8G .0401, .0402, .0403, .0404, .0405, .0406, .0407, and .0409: DENR/Water Pollution Control Systems Operators Certification Commission - The Commission objected to .0401 through .0409 due to lack of statutory authority and ambiguity. It is unclear what standards the Commission will use for approving the training programs in (b)(1). If the standards are not in the rules there is no authority to set those standards outside rulemaking. In .0409, it is also unclear what standards the Commission will use in determining whether to require training. This appears to be a slight variation on the waiver theme, but that is not abundantly clear to this reviewer.

15A NCAC 8G .0505 and .0802: DENR/Water Pollution Control Systems Operators Certification Commission – The Commission

objected to .0505 and .0802 due to ambiguity. In .0505(d) the first sentence seems to say that all scores are final and will not be changed. The last sentence states that exams shall be regraded if an "error is found in the examination." The rule is not clear as to what is going on. Does it mean that grades will not be changed if the error is that a correct answer was not properly credited but will be changed if the error was in the question itself? In .0802 the rule is unclear about the delegation of authority; the roles of the Commission, chairman, and advisory committee; and the appellate path to follow.

15A NCAC 8G .0902: DENR/Water Pollution Control Systems Operators Certification Commission - The Commission objected .0902 due to lack of statutory authority. There is no authority to set reporting requirements outside rulemaking as set out in (6).

15A NCAC 8G .1001: DENR/Water Pollution Control Systems Operators Certification Commission – This rule was withdrawn by the agency.

15A NCAC 8G .1102: DENR/Water Pollution Control Systems Operators Certification Commission – This rule was withdrawn by the agency.

- 21 NCAC 46.1612: NC Board of Pharmacy The Commission objected to this rule due to lack of statutory authority. There is no authority cited for the late renewal fee. G.S. 150B-19(5) is not sufficient authority. Note that the agency did not attempt to specifically characterize the late renewal fee as any of the five listed general fees allowed by 150B-19(5).
- 21 NCAC 46.2306: NC Board of Pharmacy The Commission objected to this rule due to lack of statutory authority. This rule does not appear to be consistent with the statute. It seems to expand the universe of those to whom the prescription information is available.
- 21 NCAC 46 .2502: NC Board of Pharmacy The Commission objected to .2502 due to lack of statutory authority and ambiguity. In (g) there appears to be an exception or waiver of the rule forbidding serving as pharmacist-manager at more than one pharmacy. However there are no specific guidelines for the Board's consideration. Paragraphs (k) (m) are ambiguous. Paragraph (l) especially is not clear about what the Board shall or shall not do under the circumstances. These paragraphs should be reviewed and perhaps rewritten to make clear what danger the Board is addressing; the solution it requires: and the need to be sure that the rules do not conflict with, or mislead someone about the effect of, the conduct of a civil lawsuit in any action over the dispensing or delivery of a product by a pharmacist.
- 21 NCAC 46 .2506: NC Board of Pharmacy This rule was withdrawn by the agency.
- 21 NCAC 46 .2609: NC Board of Pharmacy The Commission objected to this rule due to lack of statutory authority and ambiguity. There does not appear to be any authority cited to allow the board to test whether such a supplier has "a working knowledge of the services provided and how they relate to each patient's goals." The authority cited is limited to require these providers to deliver the equipment in a certain manner. As long as that is done, i.e., the rules for dispensing or delivering this equipment are followed, then the supplier's knowledge is irrelevant and beyond the scope of the board's authority to test. In the alternative, even if the board has the authority to test such knowledge, what constitutes this "working knowledge" is vague and undefined. In addition the Commission is not sure about the necessity for this rule. The only authority cited for this rule refers to dispensing or delivering "devices" or "medical equipment" including certain rehabilitation equipment. It is unclear to me whether this rule purports to regulate more than the items mentioned in the definition of medical equipment. As long as it does not there is no problem with the authority. But then it is unclear what the interplay is between this rule and the next one for your review covering all medical equipment. This latter problem is probably easily addressed by adding a provision that this rule, and not .2611, covers the delivery of rehabilitation equipment, or specifying what parts of .2611 also apply. But until that is done, this rule is unclear to me.
- 21 NCAC 46 .2611: NC Board of Pharmacy The Commission objected to this rule due to lack of statutory authority and ambiguity. This rule presents one of the same problems as the previous rule. There does not appear to be any authority cited to allow the board to test whether such a supplier has "a working knowledge of the services provided and how they relate to each patient's goals." The authority cited is limited to require these providers to deliver the equipment in a certain manner. As long as that is done, i.e., the rules for dispensing or delivering this equipment are followed, then the supplier's knowledge is irrelevant and beyond the scope of the board's authority to test. In the alternative, even if the board has the authority to test such knowledge, what constitutes this "working knowledge" is vague and undefined.
- 21 NCAC 57A .0305: NC Appraisal Board The Commission objected to this rule due to lack of statutory authority and necessity. There is no authority to require people not to talk about the exam's contents. The exam would appear to be a public record and as such available to the public. Even if it were not a public record it would seem that it would not have been the legislature's intent to allow the agency to forbid this activity and thus is unnecessary. Finally, it certainly appears to be a first amendment violation, although that is not a basis for objecting to it. However it would be a good reason for the agency to withdraw it. Note that the agency has extremely broad authority to adopt rules concerning the qualifications of its licensees, but this is not a qualification rule. The authority would lie in the legislature's broad grant of power to adopt rules "reasonably necessary to implement, administer, and enforce the provisions of this Chapter..." (G.S. 93E-1-10) including the administration of exams (G.S. 93E-1-6(c)).

ISSUE

Did the Respondent err in denying Petitioner's application for tribal recognition?

STATUTES AND RULES IN ISSUE

N.C. Gen. Stat. 143B-406 1 NCAC 15.0100 et seq 1 NCAC 15 .0200 et seq

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

- 1. It was asserted at the hearing and it is noted herein, that the issue before the Commission is not whether the Petitioners are Indian, but whether the Petitioners are a "tribe" as defined by the regulations.
- 2. After one day of hearing in February of 1997, the Parties requested and agreed that the matter be sent to mediation before continuing with any additional days of the hearing. The Motion was allowed and the matter was put before a mediator. After approximately a year and a half, the mediation was declared at an impasse and the matter proceeded to hearing.
- 3. Evidence was presented to indicate that at least one supplement, the 1995 supplement, may never have been reviewed by the Recognition Committee. Additionally, material continued to be presented, albeit informally, to the Recognition Committee throughout the period of the contested case, the mediation and the hearing. The parties were questioned but could not delineate which material had been known to the Commission at any particular time in their deliberations. However, at the hearing, the Commission adopted its decision to deny the Petition notwithstanding any of the information which had been submitted to it after its last official denial. The undersigned therefore is considering all information presented at the hearing as if it had been known to the Commission at the time of its denial.
 - 4. The burden of proof in showing that this petitioning group should be awarded tribal recognition rests squarely with the petitioning group.

That burden includes not only researching material to show that the Petitioner satisfies the regulations, but also includes the burden of presenting that material to the Commission in a clear manner and in a manner which requires no research other than that which is necessary for the purpose verification. Some sections of the Petition for Recognition and the subsequent submissions were clearly spelled out but others were not. If the Commission could not decipher data because of unreadable photocopies or illegible ancient handwriting, the Commission did not have the burden of continuously seeking clarification of those items.

- 5. During the deliberation period, the Petitioning Group was asked for direction to locations of items of evidence. This was necessary because of the voluminous amount of evidence and because of the difficulty in reading ancient documents. During this time, no new evidence was allowed. Petitioner's Motion to admit into evidence its replies to the questions along with its alleged duplicate submissions was denied. Evidence which was not clearly admitted was categorically disregarded such as the two important but previously unseen depositions of Nancy Davis and William Harris.
- 6. The quest for self-identity, especially from people so long abused, is an attractive and romantic notion. However, to be influenced by such concerns is, in the opinion of the undersigned, bias and has not been allowed to enter into deliberations.

Based upon careful consideration of the testimony and evidence presented at the hearing, the documents and exhibits received into evidence, and the entire record in this proceeding, the undersigned makes the following:

FINDINGS OF FACT

- 1. North Carolina General Statute §143B-404 created the North Carolina Commission of Indian Affairs.
- 2. N.C. Gen. Stat. 143B-405 sets out the duties of the Commission and G.S. 143B-406 provides that the Commission shall establish appropriate procedures for legal recognition by the State of presently unrecognized groups and tribes.
- 3. To that end, the Commission promulgated recognition rules which are set out in the North Carolina Administrative Code, Title 1, r. 15. 0202 et seq.
- 4. Also, to that end, the Commission established a Recognition Committee. The Recognition Committee is mandated with the duty to review Petitions and make presentations and recommendations to the full Commission.
- 5. 1 NCAC 15. 0208 provides that a group may petition for recognition either as an Indian tribe or as an Indian organization or group.
 - 6. That same rule defines "Indian tribe" as:
 - ... a population of Indian people all related to one another by blood, tracing their heritage to Indian tribes indigenous to North Carolina within the last 200 years...
- 7. 1 NCAC 15 .0211 provides that, "only tribes tracing back to Indian tribes indigenous to North Carolina for at least 200 years will be considered for recognition by the Commission."
- 8. 1 NCAC 15 .0209 lists eight criteria for tribal recognition and provides that at least five of those criteria must be met before a group can be recognized.
 - 9. The criteria of 1 NCAC 15 .0209 are:
 - (1) traditional North Carolina Indian names;
 - (2) kinship relationships with other recognized Indian tribes;
 - (3) official records such as birth, church, school or other recognizing the people as Indian:
 - (4) letters or statements from state or federal authorities recognizing the people as Indian:
 - (5) anthropological or historical accounts tied to the tribes' Indian ancestry;
 - (6) letters or statements from presently recognized tribes or groups or their representatives attesting to the Indian heritage of the tribe;

- (7) any other documented traditions, customs, legends, etc. that signify the tribes' Indian heritage;
- (8) participation in or grants from sources or programs designated as for Indian only.
- 10. 1 NCAC 15 .0214 provides the following:

Each petitioning tribe or organization must submit to the commission a roll of its members as a condition to recognition. The tribal roll should list the names and addresses of the people and relate each one to their kinship ties.

- 11. At the time the Commission was deliberating on the creation of its rules, it looked for guidance to the federal government's rules on tribal recognition.
- 12. The Commission did not want its requirements for tribal recognition to be as stringent or as difficult to satisfy as those provided by the federal government.
 - 13. For example, the federal regulations include the following two requirements;
 - (a) 25 CFR 83.7(b) provides that the Petitioning group must inhabit a specific area "distinct from other populations;"
 - (b) 25 CFR 83.7(c) provides that a petitioning group must provide facts establishing that the group "has maintained tribal political influence or authority over its members... throughout history until the present".
- 14. The State recognition criteria do not include requirements for a continuous political tribal organization, nor do they include a requirement for the existence of a community separate and distinct from other communities.
- 15. Additionally, there has historically been a criteria applied to people of mixed Indian blood known as "Blood Quantum". This reflects the amount of Indian blood in any particular person such as one-fourth, one-eighth, etc. and was, at times, used to define a person's degree of "Indian-ness." The North Carolina Commission of Indian Affairs has rejected the concept of a blood quantum analysis and, therefore, no such requirement is included in their regulations.
- 16. Some Commission members testified that while the amount of Indian blood is not relevant, living in the "Indian way" is. One Commission member testified, "You might have Indian heritage, but if you don't live as an Indian, you're not a tribe."
- 17. However, it is found as fact that there is no statute or rule which requires that the Petitioning Group be living in the "Indian way".
- 18. Some Commission members testified that if an ancestor denied his Indian heritage in order to get land or an education, "you are through as an Indian." There was also testimony that, you can not pick up and put down the title of "Indian" for your convenience. When asked if a descendent could later reclaim their Indian heritage, the response was, "No."
- 19. However, it is found as fact that there is no statute or rule which provides that ancestors may not have denied their heritage or culture.
- 20. On several occasions the Commission members testified that they have been looking in this Petition for a "rifle shot" straight back from a current tribal member to an ancestor described as a member of an indigenous tribe.
- 21. However, it is found as fact that there is no requirement that a Petitioning Group trace their heritage by direct evidence (a "rifle shot") and not by circumstantial evidence.

CASE BACKGROUND

- 22. On January 16, 1990, the Commission received a Petition for State Recognition from the "Eno Occaneechi Indian Association," which the Commission referred to the Recognition Committee.
- 23. Members of the Commission's support Staff provides administrative support to both the full Commission and to the Recognition Committee. The Staff also conducted reviews of the Petition and its supplements, which reviews were provided to the Recognition Committee

- 24. Just prior to receiving the Eno Occaneechi Petition, the Commission had received a Petition for Recognition from the "Tuscarora Indians".
- 25. The Commission knew that it did not have sufficient Staff to research more than one Petition at a time, and since the Tuscarora Petition had come in first, the Commission determined that that Petition should be handled first.
- 26. This decision caused a delay in the Commission's handling of the Eno Occaneechi Petition at various stages in the process.
- 27. Ultimately, the Commission made the decision to "table" the Tuscarora Petition because the Tuscaroras had not been actively pursuing the Recognition process.
 - 28. The Commission then determined that it would begin the review of the Petition from the Eno Occaneechi.
- 29. On December 5, 1991, the Recognition Committee met and determined that they would ask the State Office of Archeology to review the Historical Narrative Section of the Eno Occaneechi Petition.
 - 30. State Archeologist, Steve Claggett was contacted and agreed to conduct the review of this section of the Petition.
- 31. On March 1, 1991, after completing the review, Mr. Claggett wrote to the Commission stating, "I and members of my Staff have read portions of the two volume document concentrating on the historical narrative and Anthropological/Historical Accounts Sections of the Petition. Our basic opinion of the Petition is that the Archeological and Historic Background Sections are technically and historically as accurate as current research allows".
- 32. At the June 3, 1992 Recognition Committee Meeting, the Commission learned that it had received approval to use $2000 of lapsed salaries to hire a consultant to begin a review of the Eno Occaneechi Petition.
- 33. The Commission determined that it would ask Dr. Robert Daniels of the Department of Anthropology, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, to review the Eno Occaneechi Petition and to report his findings back to the Commission.
 - 34. Dr. Daniels was contacted and agreed to conduct the review.
 - 35. On September 29, 1992, Dr. Daniels submitted the report of his review to the Commission.
- 36. During this same period of time, the Commission Staff had also been conducting its' own review of the Petition. In October of 1992, the Staff produced a summation of its review of the Petition which was distributed to members of the Recognition Committee.
- 37. In November of 1992, the Recognition Committee met to discuss the reviews prepared both by the Staff and by Dr. Daniels.
 - 38. Dr. Daniels' review concluded:

In my opinion, the petition does demonstrate that a significant proportion of the petitioners have a valid claim to a heritage derived from Indian tribes indigenous to North Carolina 200 years ago.

39. Dr. Daniels' review also concluded:

...the petitioners' case rests on assembling several pieces of evidence that together amount to an explanation that in my opinion is credible beyond a reasonable doubt. Those pieces involve documents which show that Indians of the Saponi and related groups did survive into the 1700s, that their earlierst named ancestors were associated with the same area and were of mixed Indian ancestry.

40. The Staff concluded that the group's tribal name "does not have continuity within this group". Staff also noted that while there has been a demonstration of Indian ancestry, the tribal identification does not go back to one specific tribe but rather to Catawba, Croatan, Saponi, or mixed "Indian ancestry".

- 41. As to the eight criteria, the Staff's review and Dr. Daniels' review were also not in accord.
- 42. Dr. Daniels determined that Criterion One, traditional North Carolina Indian Names was met "... if this is interpreted to mean family names of European origin traditionally associated with people of (total or partial) Indian Ancestry..."
- 43. The Staff determined that, while Dr. Daniels' interpretation of the criterion was correct, Criterion One would not be met without further documentation. The Staff report stated, "It would strengthen the Petitioners' claim if there were a smaller group of core surnames from whom the present day members could demonstrate direct descent".
- 44. Dr. Daniels found that Criterion Two, Kinship Relations with other recognized Indian Tribes "...was met". The Staff found that Criterion Two was not met and would not be met without further documentation.
- 45. Dr. Daniels found that Criterion Three, Official Records such as birth, church, school or other recognizing the people as Indian, "...was met and was clearly demonstrated."
- 46. Staff determined that the Petitioners' evidence of Criterion Three was composed of delayed Certificates of Birth. Since these delayed Certificates could be obtained by self-declaration, (an applicant for the reissuance of a birth certificate could simply declare himself to be an Indian). Criterion Three had not been met.
- 47. Dr. Daniels found that Criterion Four, Letters or Statements from State or Federal authorities recognizing the people as Indian was "... met and was well established."
- 48. Staff found that Criterion Four was not met in part because many of the documents attesting to people being Indian, talked about people not clearly on the tribal roll or geneologies.
- 49. Dr. Daniels found that Criterion Five, Anthropological or historical accounts tied to the tribe's Indian ancestry "...was met".
- 50. Staff stated, "Staff sees the primary problem with this section of the Petition to be the failure of the Petitioner to prove clear descent of current members of the Petitioning group from the historic Eno Occaneechi".
- 51. Dr. Daniels found that Criterion Six, letters or statements from presently recognized tribes or groups or their representatives attesting to the Indian heritage of the tribe, was "perhaps" met.
 - 52. The Staff also found Criterion Six to have been met.
- 53. Dr. Daniels found that Criterion Seven, any other documented traditions, customs, legends, etc., that signify the tribe's Indian heritage, was not met.
 - 54. The Staff agreed with Dr. Daniels that Criteria Seven had not been met.
- 55. Dr. Daniels found that Criterion Eight, participation in or grants from sources or programs designated as for Indians only, was "perhaps" met.
 - 56. The Staff found that Criteria Eight had not been met.
 - 57. Dr. Daniels summarized his findings as follows:

In summary, Criteria 3, 4, and 5 are clearly satisfied. Criteria 1 is satisfied if my reading of the requirements is correct. I judge Criteria 2, 6, and 8 to have been satisfied but wish to advise the committee that the evidence here is not as strong and its interpretation is a matter of judgment. Criterion 7 has not been satisfied.

58. After discussing these two reports, and their conclusions, the Recognition Committee made its own determination. They decided that Criteria 4 and 6, had been met by the Petitioning group but that none of the other criteria had been met.

59. In summary;

Criterion	Dr. Daniels	Staff	Recognition Committee
1	Met	Not met	Not met
2	Met	Not met	Not met
3	Met	Not met	Not met
4	Met	Not met	Met
5	Met	Not met	Not met
6	Met	Met	Met
7	Not Met	Not met	Not met
8	Met	Not met	Not met

- 60. The Recognition Committee also determined that the tribal roll and the "200 year" requirement had not been met.
- 61. The Recognition Committee presented its findings to the full Commission. The full Commission adopted the findings of the Recognition Committee and subsequently the Commission wrote to the Petitioning Group reporting that the Petition had been reviewed and the Commission had made the following determinations:

Criteria 4 and 6 have been met Criteria 1, 2, 3, 5, 7 and 8 have not been met

- 62. The Commission also determined and reported to the petitioning group that the requirements of 15 NCAC .0214, the Tribal Roll, had not been met in that the Petitioners had not shown the kinship relationships of the people on the roll.
- 63. The Commission also determined and reported to the petitioning group that the requirements of 15 NCAC .0211, tracing the tribe back 200 years to a tribe indigenous to North Carolina, had not been met.
- 64. The Committee directed Staff to prepare a written and detailed statement of the Petition's "Obvious Deficiencies" as found by the Recognition Committee and to send it to the petitioning group. This was done on December 8, 1992.
- 65. On March 11, 1993, the Eno Occaneechi Indian Association wrote to the Commission informing them that they would respond to the statement of Obvious Deficiencies with a supplement to their Petition.
- 66. During the entire recognition process, the Petitioning group continued to conduct historical and genealogical research and to submit additional information to the Commission.
 - 67. In July of 1993, the Petitioning Group submitted to the Commission the First Supplement to their Petition.
- 68. In November of 1993, the Staff conducted an exhaustive and lengthy review of this First Supplement to the Petition and produced another report which was submitted to the Recognition Committee.
- 69. This Staff report discussed a number of inconsistencies but did not include a conclusory statement. Instead, the Staff ended the report by stating;

The Recognition Committee must make the determination of how crucial these inconsistencies and/or omissions are in their deliberation regarding the Petition.

- 70. The Recognition Committee met on February 21, 1994, and, after reviewing the Petition, its Supplement and the Staff report, the Committee determined that it found the Petition to be "incomplete" and Petitioner would have 90 days to submit additional documentation. The Commission wrote to the Petitioning group informing them of this decision.
 - 71. On May 23, 1994, the Second Supplement to the Petition was received by the Commission.
- 72. Continued reviews and deliberations ensued and on May 19, 1995, the Third Supplement to the Petition was submitted to the Commission.

- 73. During this period of time, the Commission was notified that the Petitioners had retained a lawyer who was asking for copies of all material relevant to their Petition as well as material relevant to an earlier recognition procedure wherein the Meherrin Indians had applied for, and were eventually awarded, tribal recognition.
- Also during this period of time, the "Eno-Occaneechi Indian Association" had held its annual meeting, elected new officers, and changed the name of the Association to the "Occaneechi Band of the Saponi Nation."
- 75. The Commission learned that there had been a rift in the Petitioner's organization and that the previous Chief was asserting that he and his followers would be continuing to Petition for recognition under the old name. The new Chief was asserting that the recognition process should continue under the new tribal name. The Commission was uncertain as to whether the Petition under consideration belonged with the old group or the new group.
- 76. Ultimately, it was determined that the Petition would continue along the recognition process with the new name and the new Chief.
- In the Spring of 1995, the Staff completed another exhaustive review of the Petition encompassing all submissions received to date. This review, however, did not include the most recent supplement submitted on May 19, 1995.
- Janet McLamb, who had been the primary Staff reviewer for the Commission, was leaving her position and had just completed her review when the last submission came in. Since she was about to leave that position, she did not have time to conduct a review of this last supplement before she left.
- The Recognition Committee met on May 22, 1995. At that meeting the Committee heard a presentation from the new "Chief." Lawrence Dunmore, President of the "Occaneechi Band of the Saponi Nation."
- At some point in the process and prior to the commencement of the second setting of this hearing, the Commission determined that the Petitioning group had met an additional criterion.
- In addition to Criteria 4 and 6, the Commission determined that the group had also met Criterion 8, participation 81. in grants from sources or programs designated as for Indian only.
- In July of 1995, Staff members completed an addendum to the final review completed in May which covered the recently submitted materials. This addendum may or may not have been seen by the Recognition Committee at this time.
- On July 17, 1995, the Recognition Committee met again. Representatives of both the "Eno Occaneechi Indian Association" and the "Occaneechi Band of the Saponi Nation" were delivered presentations.
- 84. The Recognition Committee voted to deny State recognition to the "Occaneechi Band of the Saponi Nation" citing Petitioner's failure to meet the required five of the eight criteria and failure to establish the requisite 200 year link.
 - 85. On August 28, 1995, the "Occaneechi Band of the Saponi Nation" filed Notice of Appeal to the full Commission.
- 86. In September of 1995, this appeal was presented to the full Commission, but the deliberations and decision was postponed to the December meeting.
- On December 8, 1995, the appeal was heard by the Commission. By 14 to 1, the Commission voted to uphold the decision of the Recognition Committee to deny State recognition to the "Occaneechi Band of the Saponi Nation."

REQUIREMENTS FOR TRIBAL RECOGNITION

In order for the Petitioning Group to be recognized as a tribe, they must satisfy the following requirements; First, they must trace their heritage to a tribe indigenous to North Carolina for 200 years. Second, they must meet five of the eight criteria. Lastly, they must submit a satisfactory tribal roll. The statute and rules are silent on the issue of the selection of a tribal name.

- 89. These requirements as they will be addressed herein are broken down as follows:
 - I. The Eight Criteria
 - II. The Tribal Roll
 - III. The 200 Year Requirement
 - (A) A 200 Year Genealogy
 - (B) Tribal Existence in North Carolina 200 Years Ago
 - (C) Petitioning Group's Tribal Identity
 - IV. Designation of a Tribal Name

I. The Eight Criteria

Criterion One: Traditional North Carolina Indian Names

- 90. Dr. Daniels, in his review, determined that the Petitioning group had met this criteria, "If this is interpreted to mean family names of European origin traditionally associated with people of (total or partial) Indian ancestry in North Carolina during the 1700s." In the Commission's October 1992 review, the Commission Staff noted that it was their opinion that Dr. Daniels interpretation of this criteria was correct.
- 91. This interpretation appears to be an obvious and reasonable one, since it is a well understood that true original lndian names, in almost all instances, have not survived.
- 92. Although Dr. Daniels' added the additional factor of requiring the names to date back to "the 1700s," it is reasonable and accurate to say that the names should be traditionally known as Indian names.
- 93. To meet this criterion, the Petitioner submitted 16 affidavits and a number of letters from local residents attesting to the fact that the names of Jeffries, Whitmore, Burnette, Martin, Dixon, Parker, Bass, Anderson, Jones, Hayes, Guy, Day, Ligons, Miles, Chavis, Bowden, White, Corne, Haith, Enoch, Wilson, McPherson, Hawley, Watkins, and Nash have been known as Indian names.
- 94. The Petitioner also submitted numerous historic documents which showed that names which are on the tribal roll have been involved with various authorities as people of Indian heritage.
- 95. Examples of the historic documents which were submitted to show that the Jeffries and Guy names were known as Indian names are the following:
 - (a) Senate Document 144 which identifies a large number of Guys and several Jeffries as Indian.
 - (b) Court documents specifically identifying Mourning and Sally Jeffries as Indian.
 - (c) Simon Jeffries, Revolutionary War soldier, was identified as an Indian.
 - (d) William Guy, a Revolutionary War soldier, was identified as an Indian.
- 96. In the Recognition's Committee meeting of August 24, 1995, the Committee determined that while the names on this Petition are traditional in their geographic area, "the Petitioner has not demonstrated that any of its traditional names which are indisputably connected to the group have ever been identified as Indian."
- 97. The undersigned disagrees with the Commission and finds that the Petitioning Group has submitted documents which are valid evidence to show that these names have been known as Indian names in modern times and were known as Indian names historically.

Criterion Two: Kinship relationships with other recognized Indian tribes;

- 98. Dr. Daniels found the evidence for this criterion to be slight. Staff found that this criterion had not been met.
- 99. A review of the data submitted by the Petitioning group shows that there were many marriages between families of the Petitioning group and families who are purportedly Indian and white. However, this criterion requires kinship with other recognized tribes. While there are one or two instances where a marriage (or a parent) is alleged to be Cherokee (a recognized tribe) the evidence is scant.

100. It is, therefore, found as fact that Criterion Number Two has not been met.

Criterion Three: Official records such as birth, church, school or other recognizing people as Indian;

- Dr. Daniels found this criterion to have been met but Staff and the Committee did not. 101.
- The Petitioning Group submitted a large number of birth certificates altered to show the race as Indian. These birth certificates meet the definition of "official records" and constitute evidence under this Criterion. They do not, however, weigh very heavily because they are self-declarations made close to (or during) the time the Petitioning Group was seeking tribal recognition.
- The Petitioning group submitted a Death Certificate for John R. Jeffries. This is valid documentation for this Criterion. However, while John R. Jeffries is probably a member of this Jeffries family, he has not been adequately identified as an ancestor of anyone connected to the Petitioning group.
- The Petitioning group also submitted Death Certificates of two Whitmore babies indicating that they and their parents are Indians. These certificates were not completed at or near the time the group is pursing tribal recognition. These are valid documentation under this Criterion.
- The Petitioning Group also submitted a number of census and voting records showing names of ancestors of the group and identifying them as Indian. These are valid documentation under this criterion.
- 106. For example, the 1870 Census of Green County, Ohio shows Shadrack, Daniel and Rebecca Jeffries and their children as Indians and Uriah, Caroline, John and Mason Jeffries as Indian.
- The Petitioning Group submitted approximately five court case reports reflecting instances when members of the Jeffries Clan in Ohio and Indiana were denied the right to vote because they were black. This denial also caused the Jeffries children to be denied admission to white schools. The Jeffries men sued and the courts consistently ruled that they were Indian and white and not black. These court cases were considered by the Commission under Criterion Four (letters or statements from State or federal authorities). It is not clear that these could not be used to satisfy more that one criterion.
- However, even assuming that the court cases can not be considered twice, it is found as fact that the census records, voting records (showing many names) and two death certificates, constitutes sufficient evidence to meet this criterion.

Criterion Five: Anthropological or historical accounts tied to the tribes' Indian ancestry;

- 109. Dr. Daniels found that this Criterion was met. Dr. Claggett found that the historical narrative was accurate.
- 110. The 1992 Staff review, however, stated that the problem with the Petitioning Group's submissions for this criterion was the failure to prove clear descent of current members. This is an invalid reason for denying this criterion.
- It is axiomatic that a Petitioning Group which is submitting documentation on the history of a tribe is submitting 111. that data for the tribe from which it claims descent. Proof of that descent, however, is not required at this place in the submissions. The issue of whether or not the Petitioner can prove descent from these tribes is a separate issue and not part of this criterion
 - 112. It is found as fact that this criterion does not require a showing of descent.
- The tribes about which the Petitioning Group has submitted historical and anthropological data are the Saponi, Eno, Occaneechi, Tutelo, and Catawba. The historical and anthropological histories of these tribes has been clearly presented and documented and verified by the State Archeologist.
 - 114. It is found as fact that Criterion Five has been met.

Criterion Seven: Any other documented traditions, customs, legends, etc. that signify the tribes' Indian heritage;

Dr. Daniels found that this criterion was not met. He stated, "...the Petition does not demonstrate the transmission of a sufficiently large number of interrelated practices of Indian origin to differentiate the petitioners from other people who are able to trace their ancestry to rural pre-colonial America.

- Ms. McLamb, the Staff Reviewer, testified that meeting this particular criterion would be very difficult because traditions specific to tribal practices would be very hard to find. Nevertheless, this is a criterion which the Petitioning Group must attempt to meet.
 - 117. After reviewing the data, the undersigned agrees that this criterion has not been met.

II. The Tribal Roll

- 118. 1 NCAC 15 .0214 requires that a Petitioning group must submit a tribal roll listing (a) the names and addresses of the people and (b) the relationship of each one to their "kinship ties."
- 119. One Staff review stated that there were too many surnames on the roll and the petitioning group should concentrate the geneologies (kinship ties) of the major families.
- 120. This roll was submitted in at least two formats. The kinship ties were shown, albeit in a handwritten format, on the first submission of a tribal roll.
- 121. Additionally, many of the names on the tribal roll appear on the Genealogical Charts which are attached hereto and which were created from the raw data submitted by the Petitioning Group.
- 122. Although the Petitioning Group could have shown kinship ties in a more presentable way, they did show kinship ties as required.
- 123. The undersigned has found no listing of addresses. There is, however, no indications that the Commission has denied this requirement because of the absence of addresses.
 - 124. It is found as fact that, subject to the submission of addresses, the evidence is adequate to meet this requirement.

III. The 200 Year Requirement

125. As noted above, in order to gain tribal recognition, the Petitioning Group must trace its ancestry back at least 200 years. It must then prove its tribal identity by showing that its ancestors were from a tribe indigenous to North Carolina 200 years ago.

(A) A 200 Year Genealogy

- 126. There are two primary family geneologies incorporated into this decision. These are the two most thoroughly researched families of the Petitioning group, the Jeffries and the Guys.
- 127. Attachment A is the Jeffries' Genealogical Chart, Chart Number One. The information shown thereon and the legend on this chart are hereby found as fact.
- 128. Attachment B is the Jeffries Genealogical Chart, Chart Number Two. The information shown thereon and the legend on this chart are hereby found as fact.
- 129. Attachment C is the Guy Genealogical Chart. The information shown thereon and the legend on this chart are hereby found as fact.
- 130. The information, family relationships, and status of "Indian" shown on these charts was distilled from the raw data submitted by the Petitioning group. No name was placed on these charts unless evidence was found to satisfactorily show that the person existed and to show his or her place in the families.
- 131. As is noted in the legends, these genealogies trace members on the current tribal roll to people who have been identified as Indian without regard to tribal identity.
- 132. The parameters to be used in interpreting a genealogical study have not been spelled out in the Commission's rules. The undersigned has established parameters for the construction of these genealogical family trees.

- 133. No name on the chart was shaded to indicate status as "Indian" unless adequate documentation was found to verify this status.
- 134. The delayed birth certificates which show "Indian" as the race, were used to verify the relationships of people on the Genealogical Chart. However, they were not used to prove that the people were Indian because they were altered at or near the time the Petitioning Group was seeking tribal recognition.
- 135. The kinship relationships claimed back to approximately 1875 are taken as true. This judgment was made because, using 25 years as a generation, a person now alive at age 60 (born 1938), would have knowledge of his parents (born 1913), and his grandparents (born 1888). His parents would know of their own grandparents (born 1863). In other words, it is a reasonable proposition that people now alive have memories and first hand reports of ancestors going back approximately to great grandparents.
- 136. The people who have been identified in historic records as Mulatto, Yellow, Colored, Issue or Free Issue, may well indeed be people of Indian heritage as the Petitioner asserts. However, for purposes of these genealogical charts the only individual who was deemed to be Indian with such a designation was Grief Jeffries. Grief Jeffries was identified in an ancient document as a "Free Woman of Color." Because of this identification, because she had two sisters who were specifically identified as Indian, and because her father was identified as Indian, she has been attributed with the designation "Indian."
- 137. There are many smaller, abbreviated geneologies that can be gleaned from the evidence presented. They do not, however, contain sufficient information to determine where they might be placed on the master geneologies.
- 138. As to the Guy Genealogical Chart, although there have been many marriages between the Jeffries and Guy families, the evidence used to compile the Guy Chart does not trace back in an unbroken manner from 200 years ago to a current tribal member. The break in evidence is represented by the dotted line.
- 139. All of the people who appear on these Charts, particularly those who have been identified as "Indian" have been placed there only after an exhaustive review of the documentation which has been submitted. For example, several of the seminal ancestors, such as Andrew and Drury Jeffries, have been studied in detail.
- 140. Andrew Jeffries (c. 1730) has been found to be an Indian because he was reported as being a person of white and Indian blood in the depositions submitted as part of the Parker Jeffries v. Ankeny Case.
 - 141. The deposition of Patsy Robinson states:

Question 6 - Of what blood was Sally Jeffries?

Answer - She claimed to be of White and Indian and I never heard anything to the contrary.

Question 8 - Of what blood was Andrew Jeffries?

Answer - He claimed to be as above-stated concerning Sally Jeffries.

142. The deposition of Henry Wyche states:

Question 4 - Who was the father of Sally Jeffries?

Answer - Andrew Jeffries was the reputed father.

Ouestion 5 - Of what blood was Andrew Jeffries?

Answer - 1 believe of Indian and White.

- 143. There are other pieces of evidence which also indicate that Andrew (c. 1730) was Indian:
 - (a) Clayton Jeffries, who has been identified as Indian, identified has ancestor "Andrew" as being a land owner in the Pleasant Grove area.
 - (b) Macklin Jeffries who has been identified as an Indian, identified his grandfather "Andrew" as being a land owner in the area.
 - (c) Andrew Jeffries' granddaughters, Sylvia and Betsy stated that they get their Indian heritage from grandfathers on "both sides." (Although Senate Document 144 identifies Simon Jeffries as "grandfather" who fought in the Revolution, Sally and Betsy's grandfather was actually Andrew, another Revolutionary War soldier).
 - (d) Andrew's will identifies his children, in part, as being Sally, Mourning, Grief, and Drury. Sally,

- Mourning, and Grief have been identified as Indians.
- (e) Andrew has three brothers, three daughters, five grandchildren, and three great grandchildren who have been identified as Indian.
- 144. It is found as fact that Andrew Jeffries (c. 1730) was Indian.
- 145. Another originating ancestor for the Jeffries group is Andrew's son, Drury Jeffries.
- 146. Looking at Drury briefly with regard to his father's identification, indicates that Drury's will identifies his children as including Betsy and Sylvia. Betsy and Sylvia were identified in historic documents and data as Indian.
 - 147. Drury therefore has three sisters, two daughters, (and a father) who have been identified as Indians.
 - 148. It is found as fact that Drury Jeffries was Indian.
- 149. It is found as fact that the Jeffries' family has been traced from ancestors circa 1700 to people on the current tribal roll.
- 150. It is found as fact that the Jeffries family has been traced to people on the current tribal roll from ancestors identified as "Indian."
- 151. It is found as fact that the Guy family has not been traced back from people on the current tribal roll to ancestors 200 years ago.

(B) Tribal Existence 200 Years Ago In North Carolina

- 152. Establishing the 200 year link to a tribe indigenous to North Carolina requires an analysis of the status of tribes as they existed in North Carolina 200 years ago. This is not as clear and obvious as it may at first appear.
- 153. State Archeologist Steve Claggett determined, and the undersigned finds as fact, that the Historical Narrative Section of the Petition is as accurate as current research allows. The following findings of fact have been distilled from the narratives as well as from the raw data submitted by the Petitioner.
- 154. Attachment D is a map showing North Carolina and parts of South Carolina and Virginia in 1720. It indicates colonial and Indian settlements. The map is reproduced from the book, "The Indians New World: Catawbas and Their Neighbors from European Contact Through The Era of Removal" and is found as fact. (see n, Attachment E)
- 155. Attachment D1 is the same map, enlarged, and showing the approximate location of certain counties of significance as well as the Catawba River Settlement. This map is found as fact.
- 156. Excerpts from data submitted by the Petitioning Group are used throughout this section. They are referenced by the use of a lower case letter with full citations listed on Attachment E.
- 157. The European influx into the North American continent had a catastrophic effect on the Native American peoples, particularly along the eastern seaboard. As more and more settlers moved in, tribes were displaced from their lands. Many tribes were decimated both by disease and conflict.
- 158. Generally, the early 1700s was a time of movement among tribes in the Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina Piedmont Area.
- 159. There was a continuous migration of both tribes and remnants of tribes. They banded together in an effort to find a safe and acceptable place to live and to survive in the face of increasing pressure from encroaching settlers and tribal population loss.
- 160. As the tribes continued to lose size and power, this tribal migration became more and more common. Remnants of tribes consolidated with other larger tribes for survival and sometimes when the tribes could not successfully live together, various subgroups moved way.

- 161. Frequently, tribal identities were lost and tribal names, to the extent that they existed, were also lost.
- When European explorers first entered the Piedmont area, they found it occupied by several small Indian tribes sharing a common culture and a similar language. Those tribes included (but are not limited to) the Occaneechi, Saponi, Catawba, Santee, Waccamaw, Sissipahaw, Keyauwee, Shoccoree, and Sara.
- 163. These tribes spoke a variant of the Siouan language family, with the Occaneechi and Saponi both speaking the Northern dialect, and the Catawba, Santee, and Waccamaw speaking the Southern dialect.
- 164. The Europeans were often perplexed at the various languages and dialects they encountered among the native people. One historian reported that the languages and dialects of the early Virginia Indians were so varied that they could not understand one another and had to use the Occaneechi language as a "ceremonial" common language. He stated:

According to this historian the tribes of Virginia spoke languages differing so widely that natives "at a moderate distance" apart did not understand one another. They had however a "general language" which people of different tribes used in their intercourse with one another... The general language here used is that of the Occaneechis, though they have been a small nation every since these parts were known to the English... (t)his general language was used by the "priests and conjurors" of the different Virginia tribes in performing their religious ceremonies... (see a, Attachment E)

- 165. The Occaneechi tribe had been large and prominent among the Piedmont Indian Tribes
- 166. In 1670 an early explorer named John Lederer found the Saponis and the Occaneechis living on islands of the Roanoke River, runs from mid Virginia south into North Carolina. The historian reported:

John Lederer...a German traveler...undertook, at the charge of the colonial government, an exploring journey... He made... some interesting discoveries. Starting from the falls of the James River, he came, after 20 days of travel, to "Sapon, a village of the Nahyssans" situate on a branch of the Roanoke River. These were undoubtedly the Saponas whom Captain Batt visited in the following year, the kindred and allies of the Tutalos. Fifty miles beyond Sapon he arrived at Akenatzy, an island in the same river... in these Akenatzies we undoubtedly see the Aconechos of Lawson, and the Occaneechis mentioned by Governor Spotswood. (see b, Attachment E)

- 167. In addition to disease and land displacement, the tribes sometimes suffered from warfare with the settlers. On one occasion, the Occaneechis were particularly brutalized when, in the 1670s, several tribes including the Occaneechi were the victims of a settler's rage.
- 168. Nathaniel Bacon had developed a dislike of Indians and visited violence upon them. He conducted raids on the Occaneechi living near Clarksville, Virginia, attacking their village on the Roanoke River. He wrote:

What we did in that short time and poor condition we were in was to destroy the King of the Susquahannocks and the King of Oconogee and the Manakin King with 100 men, besides what was known to us. The King's daughter was to prisoner with some others and could have brought more, but in the heat of the fight we regarded not the advantage of the prisoners nor any plunder, but burn't and destroid all. And what we reckon most material is that we have left all nations of Indians where we have bin ingaged in a civill warre amongst themselves, so that with great ease wee hope to mandage this advantage to their utter ruine and destruction. (see c. Attachment E)

- 169. The Occaneechi did not recover after the attack, and were never the dominant trading tribe they had previously been.
- 170. Those members of the tribe who survived the attack came to live on the banks of the Eno River near present day Hillsborough, North Carolina, which settlement has been uncovered by UNC archeologists.
- 171. This Occaneechi settlement was also documented by historians. In 1701 John Lawson, Surveyor General for North and South Carolina, traveled into North Carolina and visited this settlement near Hillsborough.
 - 172. The Saponi, Tutelo and Occaneechi Tribes ultimately banded together and became as one under the name of Saponi.

A historian reports that the Saponis and Tutelos who had been living in the war path between the northern Iroquois and southern Catawba, crossed the Dan River into southwestern Virginia to escape and move away from the warring tribes. They moved to live near the Occaneechi who, prior to Bacon's raid, had been living on the islands in the Roanoke River:

In their frontier position at the base of the mountains the Saponi and Tutalo were directly in the path of the Iroquois whose war trail toward the Catawba crossed the Dan at a point between the mouths of Smith River and Mayo River... unable to withstand the constant assaults of their northern enemies, the two western tribes abandoned their villages and removed to the junction of the Staunton and the Dan where they established themselves adjoining their friends and kinsmen the Occaneechi whose history thence forth merges into theirs.

The Occaneechi of whom more will be said later although now themselves reduced by the common enemy had been an important tribe. They occupied at this time a beautiful island about four miles long called by their tribal name lying in the Roanoke a short distance below the forks of the stream of what is now Mecklenburg County Virginia. Above and below Occaneechi Island in the same stream were two other islands of nearly equal size. The Saponi settled on the lower of these while the Tutalo took possession of the upper one just at the confluence of the two rivers. How long they remained there is not definitely known but it is evident they were not able to hold their position even with the river on all sides as a protecting barrier. For in 1701 all three tribes were far down in Carolina uniting their decimated forces and preparing to remove into the English settlements. (See d. Attachment E)

173. Other historians have also reported this same history:

Two other Indian tribes of which there is little historic record live in Mecklenburg County (Virginia) for some 30 years. These tribes were also of the eastern Siouan group and kinsmen and allies of the Occaneechi. These tribes were known at the Tutelo and the Saponi...after crossing the Saponi (Staunton) River several times and climbing several smaller mountain ranges they came to the Tutelo village located on the head waters of the Roanoke River... this site was probably on the present Virginia/North Carolina State line... The seat of the Tutelo and Saponi tribes at the foot of the mountains was directly in the path of the Iroquois' war trail towards the Catawba... unable to withstand the constant assaults of the Iroquois these tribes about 1671 it is presumed on the invitation of the Occaneechis their kinsmen and allies abandoned their villages and removed to the junction of the Dan and Staunton Rivers in the Occaneechi domain. The Tutelos were assigned the island above Occaneechi Island and the Saponis were assigned the island below Occaneechi Island.

Henceforth the history of the three tribes, the Occaneechi, the Tutelo and the Saponi merges. (see e, Attachment E)

- 174. In another effort to survive, many tribes began to enter into treaties with the colonists, even moving onto lands which were designated and assigned to them by the new colonials.
- 175. On May 29, 1677, the Indians of Virginia and North Carolina entered into the Middle Plantation Peace Treaty with the Governor of Virginia, Herbert Jeffries. The Saponis are among the signators. That treaty stated, in part:

With the several Indian Kings and Queens and (illegible) Subscribers hereunto made and Concluded at the Camp of Middle Plantation, the 29th day of May, 1677; being the day of the most happy birth and Restauration of our (illegible) Sovernigne Lord, and in the xxix year of his said majesty's reign.

By The Right Honorable Herbert Jeffries, Esquire, Governor and Captain General of His Majesty's Colony of Virginia; Present the Honorable Sir John Berry and Frances Morrison, Esquire, His Most Sacred Majesty's Commissioners appointed under the great seal of England for the Virginia affairs, and the Honorable Council of State of the said Colony. This peace treaty of 1677 in Virginia is signed by: the Queen of Pomunckey, the King of Nottowayes, the son of the Queen of Pomunckey, the King of the Appomattux, the Queen of Wayonoake, the King of the Nanzou Indians, the King of the Nansaticoen, the King of the Manakins, the young King of the Sapones, the Chief Man of the Sapones, the Chief Man of the Maherians, the Chief Man of the Wahorians. (see f, Attachment E)

- 176. In this treaty, Virginia set aside a reservation of six miles square for the Saponi and allied tribes in what is now Greensville and Southampton Counties, Virginia, which counties are located along the Virginia/North Carolina State line. (see g, Attachment E)
- 177. In 1713, the tribes of Saponi, Eno, Occaneechi, and Shakori entered into another peace treaty. Governor Alexander Spotswood of Virginia had established Fort Christianna in Brunswick County, Virginia (on the North Carolina State line), where the local tribes were to be taught English and Christianity. The Fort would also be used as a buffer between the settlers and the other Indians. (see h, Attachment E)
- 178. The Fort Christianna Treaty was signed by the Chief men of the Saponi, Stukanox, Occaneechi and Tortero (Tutelo) Indians at Williamsburg, Virginia, the 27th of February, 1713. (see i, Attachment E)
- 179. The Indians of Fort Christianna were made up of the remnants of these tribes of which the most considerable were the Saponis. A historical account reflects what was in fact one of the articles of the treaty:

"Not finding themselves separately numerous enough for their defense have agreed to unite into one body and all of them now go under the name of the Saponis". (see j, Attachment E)

180. On January 27, 1714, Governor Spotswood wrote to the Bishop of London describing Fort Christianana:

It was then I formed a settlement on the frontiers for ye tributary Indians pursuant to their treaties and by the temptation of a fine tract of land of six miles square the building of a fort thereon and placing the guard of 12 men and an officer to be assisting to them I engaged the Saponi, Occaneechi. Stuckanox and Tottero Indians (being a people speaking much the same language and therefore confederated together, though still preserving their different rules) immediately to remove to this place which I have named Christ Anna. (see k, Attachment E)

- 181. Under the Fort Christianna Treaty, the Saponi retained the right to use unsettled land in the region, maintaining settlements in both North Carolina and Virginia. (see l, Attachment E)
- 182. A few years later, all of the tribes who had settled at Fort Crhistianna were identified as "Saponis." In 1716 John Fontaine documented a trip he made with Governor Spotswood. On April 13, 1716, he writes that he and Governor Spotswood set out from Williamsburg.
 - April 14, 1716, we set out with a guide for Christiana ... the most outward settlement on this side of Virginia... April 15, 1716, the third day. Christiana Fort. Mr. Griffith who is an Englishman is employed by the Government to teach the Indian children and to bring them to Christianity... he hath had good success amongst them. He hath now been a year amongst them. These Indians are called Saponi Indians and are always at peace with the English". (see m, Attachment E)
- 183. The Catawbans were not strangers to Fort Christianna and, though their settlement on the Catawba River in North Carolina was prospering, they still sued for peace among the colonists.

That Cheraw chief who arrived in Virginia in July 1715 to make peace for his own people was also "impowered by the Chiefman of the Catawba Indians" to ask the same for them. Since Cheraws had lived in Virginia until recently, this chief was the obvious candidate for the initial overtures. Once channels were open, however, Catawba leaders superseded him, so that by April 1717. Cheraws were last in a list of eight groups represented at Fort Christianna, Catawbas first. Whitmannetaughehee, "the Chief Man of all the Catawba Nation," dominated the proceedings at the fort. He alone had his name recorded by the Virginia scribe; he alone met with Spotswood on the governor's arrival. (see n. Attachment E)

- 184. Throughout the early 1700s, tribes and parts of tribes continued to migrate throughout this area and even into the northern colonies. A part of the Saponi Tribe moved north to New York.
 - 185. This Northern Saponi migration was documented:

In the beginning of the 18th Century the five nations increased to six when the Tuscaroras chased out by land hungry English settlers left their traditional home in the Carolinas...they brought with them the entire Tutelo and Saponi Tribes later commemorated in Tomkins County, Pony (Saponi) Hollow ... is named for them. (see o. Attachment E)

- 186. It is clear from other historic documents, that the "entire" Tutelo and Saponi Tribes did not migrate to New York, for this is the same period when the Saponis and Tutelos along with the Occaneechis had settled at Fort Christianna.
- 187. During this period and the years that followed, the tribal names and identities were reported in many different ways. For example, Kammen (supra) identifies the Saponi as being "Catawban." She writes:

Ironically, the Saponi and the Tutelos lived in Iroquois as allies of the Cayugas, yet they were of Catawban ancestry... (see p, Attachment E)

188. Historians also reported descriptions of the use of the Saponi, Tutelo and Catawba tribal names:

The name Saponi ... was generally limited to a particular tribe or aggregation of tribal remnants, while the Iroquois named Tutelo, Totero or Todirich-roone, in its various forms although commonly used by the English to designate a particular tribe was really the generic Iroquois term for all the Siouan tribes of Virginia and Carolina including even the Catawba. In 1722, the remnants of all the tribes of Virginia and the adjacent parts of Carolina included under this general designation by the Iroquois had been gathered at Fort Christiana and were commonly known collectively as Christianna Indians or Saponi. (see q. Attachment)

189. The Fort Christianna Indians were reported by historians to be known as both Saponi and Tutelo.

In 1670 Lederer crossed the country in a diagonal line from the present Richmond to Catawba River, on the frontiers of South Carolina, and a year later a party under Batts explored the country westward across the Blue Ridge to the headwaters of New River. Thenceforward, accounts were heard of Nahyssan, Sapona, Totero, Occanechi, and others, consolidated afterward in a single body at the frontier, Fort Christianna, and thereafter known collectively as Saponi or Tutelo. (see r. Attachment E)

190. The tribal names, even as early as 1717, were unclear. The leaders of the five nations in New York wrote the Governor of Virginia:

Those Indians called by the English Cattabaws are called by us Toderichroone. (see s, Attachment)

191. In a subsequent letter, the Governor of Virginia wrote to the Indian leaders identifying the Fort Christianna Indians as Toderichroones, the Indian name for "Catawba;"

Tis necessary now to decare the names of the several Nations of Indians which the Government of Virginia engages for, and those are the Nottoways, Meherins, Nanemonds, Pamunkeys Chichominys, and the Christianna Indians whom you call Todirichroones that we comprehend under the name, the Saponies, Ochineeches, Stenkenocks, Meipontskys & Toteroes. (see t, Attachment E)

192. Throughout the Fort Christianna period, the tribal population at the Fort varied. In 1728, the Saponis left Fort Christianna after one of their chiefs was hanged by the colonists. Like many other small tribes, they went to live with the Catawba Tribe in North Carolina at their growing settlement known as the Catawba River Settlement.

193. One historian described the incident which caused this first departure of the Saponis from Fort Christianna:

In 1728 the province tried to stop Saponis from taking revenge on Nottoway raiders...resentment deepened a few months later when Williamsburg officials hanged a Saponi headman who had committed a crime while intoxicated. In a single stroke the colony violated two fundamental tenants of native law: the first against hanging; the second against punishing a person for something done while under the influence of alcohol. By year's end the Saponi, surfeited with colonial friendship, were on their way from Fort Chrisianna to the Catawba River. Men and women weary of angry settlers, nosey missionaries and arrogant officials must have found a people the colonists were now calling Catawbas a welcome relief. Different as this Catawba population might be in appearance language and custom, the cultural variation here was as nothing compared to the chasm dividing Indians from tobacco farmers, rice planters and anglican clergymen.

(see u, Attachment E)

194. However, the difference between the Saponis and the Catawbas did not remain "as nothing". The Catawbas were a warlike tribe and the newcomers soon discovered that they could not adjust to life in the Catawban settlement. The Saponis soon found that they had to leave:

Indians caught between colonists and Catawba had a real decision before them: which was the lesser evil? The splintering that occurred within each group forced to make the choice hinted at how hard it was to come up with an answer...

Those who chose to remain with colonists embarked on a long slow slide into obscurity. Well before the end of the (18th) Century, chiefs and captains were gone, Pee Dee, Cape Fear, and other names were replaced by the non-descript term "Settlement Indians" or "parched corn Indians..." there were many natives who drifted from one isolated backwater to another following maps and schedules they alone knew... (see v. Attachment E)

195. The Catawba River Settlement, located in North Carolina where the Catawba River enters into what was then known as Sugar Creek, was growing and soon became an important stopping point on the trading route. The Catawbas welcomed and encouraged newcomers and the Settlement continued to grow in size and power. By the mid 1700s the Catawba River Settlement was flourishing:

While learning their way around, the newcomers came across many others like themselves people born in some faraway and now abandoned (if not forgotten) town, people who looked, acted, spoke, and dressed differently from their hosts. The Shawnee headman who observed in 1717 that "there were many Nations under that [Catawba] name" would have found many more two or three decades later. James Adair heard more than twenty different languages spoken by the Indians in the Catawba River settlements when he traded there between 1736 and 1743. Adair listed only Eno, Cheraw, Congaree, Natchez, Yamasee, Wateree, and Coosah (probably Creek), but to these he would have added Saponi, Caccamaw, Pedee, Santee, Saxapahaw, Keyauwee, and many others. (see w, Attachment E)

196. The Catawbas were powerful and feared, and kept alliances with other tribes, including the Saponi, by offering them protection.

Saponis who fell afoul of Virginia boasted that Catawbas had promised them sanctuary and even had sworn to help them attack the colony. Nor were Catawba efforts limited to protecting people from colonists. Tuscaroras, Nottoways, and Meherrins also learned that raids on Saponis brought reprisals from Catawba war parties acting on behalf of their Saponi "Brothers and Friends." Similarly, Cherokees who killed a Cheraw found that they had to answer to Catawbas. (see x, Attachment E)

197. Some tribes remained at the Catawba River Settlement and as time went on, they became Catawban:

Among those who remained a traditional narrow ethnic allegiance slowly faded to be replaced by a broader Catawba identity...long before the American Revolution most peoples in the nation had begun to speak to one another and to the world with a single voice. (see v. Attachment E)

198. In 1732, a few years after they had arrived, the Saponis left the Catawba River Settlement and returned to Virginia.

Not all natives found life in the Catawba Nation to their taste. In May 1732 the Saponis and a few Cheraws visited Lieutenant Governor Gooch to ask permission to return to Virginia. Permission granted they erected a fort some where along the Appamatic or Roanoke River and settled back into familiar territory. (see z, Attachment F)

199. However, this return to Virginia found the Saponis once again confronted by the problems of numerous settlers who were not happy to have Indians nearby.

The problems that had driven Saponis from Virginia three years before the invitation of the Iroquois force to move north and join the six nations soon returned to plague them... Saponis under this pressure soon broke into fragments, some moving in with the North Carolina Tuscaroras, others seeking out a powerful friend like the trader William Eaton or the former Virginia executive Alexander Spotswood. The rest accepting the invitation of the Iroquois force to move north and join the six nations.

Saponis never told Spotswood, Tuscaroras, or the Iroquois why they left the Catawbas, and it is impossible at this remove to pinpoint the source of their unhappiness. The doubts raised about these friends and brothers in 1727 apparently were confirmed once in the Nation. One Tutelo woman, daughter of a headman, took poison soon after moving south, "fearing she should not be treated according to her rank." (see aa, Attachment E)

- 200. In 1738, Fort Christianna was closed. The Indian population at the Fort which had often varied, was temporarily reduced and Virginia abrogated the Treaty. The lands around the Fort were patented out under a treaty provision allowing Virginia to sell the land if the population of the tribe fell below a certain number.
- 201. Despite the breakup of the Fort, some members of the Saponi Tribe remained in the area of the Fort, maintaining their town there, Junckatapurse, until 1743-1755.
- 202. Some of the confederated Saponi tribal peoples were seen to be living in Southern Virginia not far from the Meherrin River which runs through Mecklenburg, Brunswick, and Greensville Counties, Virginia close to where the Fort had been.
- 203. During this period, some of the Saponi people made a second attempt to live at the Catawba River Settlement in North Carolina. For reasons not clearly known, that attempt also failed and in 1748 the Saponis returned once again to Virginia. (see bb, Attachment E)
- 204. Even though the Catawbans and the Saponi were Souan speaking Piedmont Indians, their incompatibility was sure:

The Saponi experience helps to locate the limits of the Catawbas' abilities to absorb outsiders. Though Siouan-speakers and Piedmont peoples, Saponis were descended from the Monacan and Mannahoac stock, branches quite distinct in speech and custom from their southern cousins. It would appear, then, that Catawbas could incorporate small and culturally variant peoples, a Natchez and Yamasee band, or sizable groups that were close relatives, like Cheraws and Waterees, but that large and foreign populations proved more difficult. Precisely how Saponis discovered this incompatibility is unclear; but they learned very quickly, and took steps to correct their mistake.

(see cc, Attachment E)

205. By the 1750s, some remnants of Saponi had also settled in North Carolina. The North Carolina Colonial records of 1754 outlined the status of various counties. Under Granville County, which is just south of the Roanoke River, is the following entry:

No arms or ammunition in the stores. There are almost 12 or 11 Saponi men and as many women and children in the county. (see dd, Attachment E)

206. Indians were also reported in Alamance County and Saponis were reported in Granville County:

In reply to your letter of April 5th and accompanying documents relative to (illegible) Indians in Alamance County, North Carolina I would say that I have only a few notes bearing on the subject. We know that some small Siouan tribes lived in this neighborhood in the latter part of the 17th Century and early part of the 18th and that as late as 1756 there was a small body of Saponi Indians in the neighboring county of Granville.

(see ee, Attachment E)

207. In 1757 history records that some Saponis were still in Virginia. In an interesting report they stated that, though they had "buried their hatchets," the French had so inflamed them that they now wished to join "Colonel Washington" in his fight:

The President gave an audience to King Blount and 33 Tuscaroras, Meherrins, two Saponis, and 13 Nottoways, who came in company the day before to Williamsburg; That Captain Jack the Chief of the Tusks next to the King who is old and feeble produced and delivered to him a letter from Colonel Washington inviting and encouraging them to come and join us against our enemies and said what the Colonel had writ was very agreeable to them... they had buried deep underground their guns, tomahawks and hatchets but exasperated and inflamed by the shocking cruelties exercised on their brethren by the French and their base Indians they had now concurred in raising up their arms... (see ff. Attachment E)

- 208. It is found as fact that the Saponis, the Tutelo, the Occaneechi and the Catawbas were indigenous to North Carolina at least 200 years ago.
 - 209. It is found as fact that in the late 1600s the Occaneechi, Tutelo and Saponi Tribes merged.
- 210. It is found as fact that in the era of Fort Christianna, the Occaneechi and Tutelo along with other tribes were subsumed under the tribal name of Saponi.
- 211. It is found as fact that the Catawbas were present at Fort Christianna at least in pursuit of peace agreements.
- 212. It is found as fact that the Catawba Tribe was joined at the Catawba River Settlement by many other tribes including the Saponi and remnants of tribes whose identity eventually became closely associated with the name, Catawban.
- 213. It is found as fact that the Saponis moved into the Catawba River Settlement in North Carolina on at least two occasions.

C. Petitioning Group's Tribal Identity

214. Indian people were rarely identified as "Indian" in historic documents and were very rarely identified tribally.

215. Maintaining tribal identity was problematic for many reasons. For example, it had been the policy of the Government to abolish Indian tribal unity. D.M. Browning, Commissioner of the Department of the Interior, Office of Indian Affairs wrote on January 16, 1896, in pertinent part:

I am in receipt of your letter of January 9, 1896 from one P.H. Head, a Catawba Indian, of Sanford, Colorado, submitting a Petition purporting to have been signed by himself and 25 others...asking to be united with the Ute Indians...In reply I have to say that it is the policy of the government to abolish the tribal relations of the Indians as fast as possible and to settle each Indian upon a separate tract of land that he can call his own, to the end that he may become self-supporting and independent of government bounty. (see gg. Attachment E)

- 216. In the early 1700s, a European settler in Virginia by the name of John Jeffries married an Indian woman later identified as Judith. They settled in what is now Greensville, County Virginia. We know of this marriage through the will of John Jeffries and we know of Judith Jeffries heritage through identification of her great grandson, James Jeffries.
- 217. The Greensville County location where John and Judith settled was about one mile from the road which led to Fort Christianna. It was also about four miles from the North Carolina line, and a short distance from the Saponi town of Junckatapurse.
- 218. John and Judith Jeffries had a number of children including John, Andrew, Nathan, Shadrack, and Simon, which we also know from John's will and the land grants he made to his sons.
- 219. The Petitioning Group submitted numerous documents placing the Jeffries and Guy families in Greensville County, Virginia. Some of these historical documents are the following:
 - (a) The deeds of John Jeffries, Sr. (1789);
 - (b) Dills' history of Greene County, Ohio, stating that James Jeffreys was born in Greensville County, Virginia in 1821; (see hh, Attachment E)
 - (c) The Whitley County Indiana record stating that Herbert Jeffries is a native of Greensville County, Virginia; (see ii, Attachment E)
 - (d) The deposition of Susan Wooten stating that she grew up near the mother of Macklin Jeffries who lived in Greensville County, Virginia.

 (see jj, Attachment E)
 - (e) The deposition of Shadrack Jeffries attesting that he came from Greensville County, Virginia and was a playmate of Macklin Jeffries.

 (see kk, Attachment E)
 - (f) Dr. McDowell's letters stating that the Guys with their Jeffries' wives left their tribe and went to Greensville County, Virginia.

 (see ll, Attachment E)
- 220. The Petitioning Group has also submitted many documents showing that the Jeffries and Guy families, then living in Greensville County, Virginia were Indians.
- 221. James Jeffries, a great grandson of the original John Jeffries moved from Greensville County, Virginia to Xenia, Ohio. He became a well-known figure locally because of his cabinet making and fiddling. He lived to be over 100 years old and each year on his birthday the local newspaper wrote stories of his celebration.
 - 222. In a Xenia, Ohio newspaper article celebrating James Jeffries' 96th birthday, the reporter stated:

Mr. Jeffries has Indian blood in his veins. He is Tutelo-Saponi and traces his ancestry back to Pocahontas. (see mm. Attachment E)

223. In another Xenia, Ohio Newspaper article concerning the 100th birthday of the same James Jeffries, the report stated:

And so the Indian strain has not only brought him hardihood but has taught him how to live best to preserve health and youth. It was the head of the Jeffries family in this country who introduced the Indian blood into the family, when he married an Indian maiden of the same tribe to which Pocahontas belonged. And although that was several generations back, the hardihood of the red man's race crops out in this wonderfully preserved centenarian. (see nn. Attachment E)

- 224. This newspaper account is the only time the tribe of Pocahantas (commonly called the Powhatans) is identified. There is no other indication that the Jeffries family was Powhatan. The Powhatans, however, were located in the same area of Southeastern Virginia, Jamestown and Williamsburg, as were the Saponi people.
- 225. In fact, historic accounts of tribes were not always clear. One report confused the Saponis with Chief Powhatan who, history records, was the father of Pocahontas. In an account entitled the History of the American Indians published in London in 1774, the author stated in pertinent part:

In Virginia reside the remnant of an Indian Tribe who called themselves Sepone...our early American writers have bestowed on these Indians an emperor, according to the Spanish copy, calling him Powhatan. (see oo, Attachment E)

226. Clayton Jeffries who lived in Alamance County, North Carolina in the early 1900s gathered historical evidence from the old people who were alive and remembered older times:

Hudson Jeffries moved to this county from Virginia a number of years ago. His sons names were Simon Jeffries and Hudson Jeffries also. They met on election day to vote. This was before the Revolutionary War.

Jennie Jeffries, before she married a Corn, remembers General Washington. We understand they moved from Jamestown, Virginia on wagons hand made all of wood. Not every skeen nor box. And went to school with white people at that time.

There was Chavis came with Mr. Redin. Chavis drove a six-horse train across the James River before the Revolutionary War.

This is what Rufers Jeffries knows about it from his fore parents. Young Hudson Jeffries was his father. He said that he had heard the people speak of Captain John Smith. (see pp. Attachment E)

227. Clayton Jeffries wrote a series of letters attempting to get a school for his people whom he purported were Indians. On January 17, 1934, he wrote:

I noticed a record of Indians in the daily news some time ago. You failed to have all of them because there are several hundred of us in this county that is not on record and we want to get in touch with you because we have no school for our children... (see qq. Attachment E)

- 228. In another of Clayton Jeffries' letters, he states that he is glad the government can trace his people back to 1758, the date which was noted in reference to the Tutelo-Saponi people. (see rr. Attachment E)
 - 229. Other accounts document that some ancestors of the Petitioning Group were Catawban.
 - 230. Dill's History of Greene County, Ohio, dated 1881, identified Uriah and Silas Jeffries who were closely related to James Jeffries, as descendants of the Catawba Tribe of Indians. (see ss. Attachment E)

231. In 1869, Dr. Joseph McDowell (who was married to a Guy woman) wrote to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs on behalf of the Guy family and their Jeffries wives, who lived then in Macon County, North Carolina. Dr. McDowell requested financial assistance for these "70 souls" to move west. Dr. McDowell writes in part:

I take the liberty of addressing to you a few lines on behalf of a remnant of the tribe of Catawba Indians, a part of whom reside in North Carolina, Tennessee, and Georgia. Some 60 or 70 years since they left their tribe and went to Greenville County, Virginia and then removed to Orange County, North Carolina and when the Cherokee treaty of 1828 was made and the County of Macon, North Carolina was acquired they sold out in Orange and moved to Macon County, North Carolina where they purchased lands and have remained ever since. (see tt., Attachment E)

- 232. This letter included a list of all of the 70 people, most of whom were Guys and some of whom were Jeffries.
- 233. This letter was also discussed in Senate Document 144 which again documented the list of names and stated that the people whose names were on the list were descendants of two Revolutionary War Soldiers, Catawban Indians: Simon Jeffries and William Guy. (see uu, Attachment E)
- 234. Marriage records show that during the time they lived in Orange County, North Carolina the Guy and Jeffries families intermarried frequently.
- 235. The Petitioning Group submitted many documents which verify that the Greensville County, Virginia settlement eventually broke up and the people moved to Alamance, Orange, Caswell and Macon Counties, North Carolina as well as to Ohio and Indiana.
 - 236. It is found as fact that the Jeffries family traces their heritage to the Tutelo-Saponi and Catawba Tribes.

(IV.) Designation Of A Tribal Name

- 237. The tribal names used by the Europeans in the 18th and 19th centuries were very commonly not the same names the tribes used for themselves. Before the Europeans came, tribes may not have had names for themselves except to the extent it was needed to distinguish themselves from their neighbors. Later, names were developed primarily by the Europeans, to distinguish one Indian group from another. Those names appear to have been adopted by the Indian groups as they found it more and more necessary to interact with the Europeans.
- 238. As tribes began to organize in modern times, it has been common practice for the tribe to adopt a name if their original tribal identity has been lost. For example, the Haliwa-Saponi crafted their name from the Counties of Halifax (Hali) and Warren (Wa).
 - 239. Commission members and Staff testified that the name adopted by a present day tribe is not a critical factor.
 - 240. In his review of the Petition, Dr. Daniels stated:

The choice of a name for the present tribe is, I believe, a matter outside the strict application of the procedures though the Review Committee may wish to make some recommendation on that matter.

241. In its original Petition, the Petitioning group described how it settled on the tribal name:

When the community decided that it was appropriate to adopt an Indian name to describe itself and to declare its Indian-ness to non-Indians living around it, its leadership chose to recognize the community's relationship to the Siouan tribes from which they are descended and who lived in the area of Pleasant Grove at when the Europeans arrived. (sic) Both the Eno and the Occaneechi tribes are known to have had settlements in the area into the historical period, and the community chose the name

Eno-Occaneechi for that reason.

The name Saponi might have seemed to be more accurate, given the community's direct descent from the Saponi living around Fort Christianna. The Association did not consider this name, however, because there already existed a recognized Indian tribe in North Carolina using that name. The incorporation with the Saponi of the Eno and Occaneechi in 1713 supports this choice as logical and appropriate.

242. Some of the evidence indicates an ancient tribal identity as Catawban. In a summation submitted by the Petitioners address this:

Why then do the Occaneechi not call themselves Catawba? The Occaneechi provided the Recognition Committee numerous documents proving that in the late 1700s and early 1800s the Catawba name did not designate a tribe so much as a confederation of several tribes, including the Catawba proper. When the Occaneechi were identified as Catawba, and were identifying themselves as such, they were recognizing their relationship to the Catawba confederation, and not claiming to be Catawba in the sense that the present day South Carolina tribe is Catawba.

Finally, what does the law require of a petitioning group in terms of it's name? North Carolina Law states that a petitioning group must trace itself to "tribes indigenous to North Carolina at least for the last 200 years." Leaving aside the opinions of experts who have examined this petition, there is no legal requirement that a petitioning group call itself by the name of the tribe it descends from, nor, with the exception of the Eastern Cherokee and the Meherrin, do any of the presently recognized North Carolina tribes do so. The Occaneechi have fulfilled the requirement of the law in this matter in tracing descent from tribes native to North Carolina, and who have lived here for hundreds of years. They are not required to call themselves Catawba, and have presented to the Recognition Committee their reasons for their choice of name.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

I. The Eight Criteria

- 1. The Commission has determined that three of the eight criteria Criteria four, six and eight have been met. Of the remaining criteria, the undersigned determines the following:
 - 2. It is concluded that Criterion One has been met.
 - 3. It is concluded that Criterion Two has not been met.
 - 4. It is concluded that Criterion Three has been met.
 - 5. It is concluded that Criterion Five has been met.
 - 6. It is concluded that Criterion Seven has not been met.
- 7. It is concluded that, since the Petitioning Group has satisfied three Criteria with the Commission, and an additional three criteria above, the Petitioning Group has met more than five of the eight criteria and satisfactorily meets the requirement of 1 NCAC 15.0209.

II. The Tribal Roll

8. It is concluded that the requirement for a tribal roll showing kinship ties has been met subject to the submission of addresses of the tribal members on the tribal roll.

111. The 200 Year Requirement

(A) 200 Year Genealogy

9. It is concluded that the Jeffries family has documented its ancestry from people on the current tribal roll back more than 200 years to people identified as Indians.

(B) Tribal Existence in North Carolina 200 Years Ago

- 10. It is concluded that the Saponis, Occaneechis, Tutelos and Catawbas were tribes indigenous to North Carolina 200 years ago.
 - 11. It is concluded that the Occaneechi and Tutelo were subsumed under the tribal name Saponi.
- 12. It is Concluded that the Saponi and the Catawba Tribes interacted at Fort Christianna, lived together on at least two occasions, spoke the same Siouan language, and were otherwise allied.

(C) Petitioning Group's Tribal Identity:

- 13. Both rules dealing with the 200 year tribal link require that Petitioning Groups trace back to indigenous tribes, using the plural of the word. (1 NCAC 15 .0208 and .0211)
- 14. The evidence on tribal identity indicates that James Jeffries of Xenia, Ohio identified his great grandmother as Tutelo-Saponi. Dr. McDowell identified his group which was primarily Guys with some Jeffries wives as Catawban. Geographic evidence indicates that the Jeffries and Guy families trace back to Greensville County, Virginia, remarkably close to Fort Christianna and the Saponi town of Junckatapurse.

It is possible that both these early accounts are accurate. The Jeffries may be originally Tutelo-Saponi. The account of the Guy family may indicate either that the Guys are Catawban or of the Catawban stock or confederacy.

These two families intermarried certainly by the early 1800s if they had not done so earlier. The Tutelo, Occaneechi, Saponi and Catawba Tribes intermingled to a great extent on a number of occasions.

It is shown by a preponderance of the evidence that this Petitioning Group traces back to the Saponi and Catawba Tribes, with the Saponi Tribe having subsumed both the Tutelo and Occaneechi Tribes.

The rules do not require that a Petitioning Group must be singularly comprised of one tribe with no intermarriages in ancient or recent history. In fact, the rules use the plural word, "Tribes".

15. It is therefore concluded that the Petitioning Group has traced its ancestry back 200 years to tribes indigenous to North Carolina in satisfaction of the requirement of 1 NCAC 15 .0211.

II. Designation Of A Tribal Name

- 16. Although recent history has shown that many modern day tribes have recreated a tribal name, sometimes using geographic names in combination with tribal names, there are no statutes and no rules covering the designation of a tribal name.
- 17. Neither party can be compelled to abide by regulations which do not exist and the undersigned can not adjudicate compliance with non-existent regulations. The selection of a tribal names is left to the good judgment of the Parties.

Based on the above Conclusions of Law, the undersigned makes the following:

RECOMMENDATION

That the North Carolina Commission of Indian Affairs grant tribal recognition to the Petitioners.
